

Beyond the Climate Change Consensus

International conference
providing an insight into the science
beyond the climate change consensus
and its consequence to energy policies

Date: 2:00PM to 5:00PM, Monday, December 8, 2025

Venue: Grand Hall of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences (Budapest V., Széchenyi tér 9.)

2:00PM to 2:05PM Gábor NÁRAY-SZABÓ, O. M., Chair of the conference
Welcome and programme description

2:05PM to 2:30PM László SZARKA, O. M., Initiator of the conference
What is climate science?

2:30PM to 3:15PM Demetris KOUTSOYIANNIS (Prof, National Technical University of Athens)
H₂O, CO₂, Climate Change

3:15PM to 4:00PM Samuel FURFARI (Prof, ESCP London; emerite ULB)
The Conventional Energy Counterrevolution

4:00PM to 4:55PM Discussion

4:55PM to 5:00PM Gábor NÁRAY-SZABÓ
Closing words

Participation is free; however, due to limited seating, pre-registration is required by email: laszloszarka54@gmail.com. Subject: BCCC; Content: name, academic degree, affiliation, email, remarks. Those who indicate willingness to take part in the discussion, will be required to send an Extended Abstract (max. 2 pages in English) before December 1. Depending on the available time, a few (max. 10 minutes long) comments can be made.

A more detailed discussion in Hungarian language will be held on December 15, 2025.
Its date and location will be announced at the conference.

Press registration: sajto@titkarsag.mta.hu

The views expressed at the conference do not necessarily reflect the official position of the Hungarian Academy of Sciences. Participants represent their own professional views.

The whole event will be recorded.

The audience may also be recorded. Participants give their express consent to this by registering.